Officials have identified the woman who was killed in a traffic accident in Orion Township on Thursday.

Angela Folk, 64, died in the accident, which occurred shortly before 11 a.m. on Baldwin Road, north of Judah.

Folk was a passenger in a 2006 Buick Lucerne driven by her husband, Raymond Folk, 74, when Folk lost control of the vehicle in snowy conditions and drifted into oncoming traffic, according to the Oakland County Sheriff's Office.

The vehicle struck a 2004 GMC Envoy, which was headed southbound and was driven by a 63-year-old Clarkston woman.

Angela Folk was extricated from the vehicle and taken to a local hospital, where she was pronounced dead at 11:30 a.m., officials said. Raymond Folk was taken to the same hospital, where he was listed in serious but stable condition on Friday.

Weather conditions may have been a factor, officials said. Alcohol was not a factor, and all three people were wearing seat belts at the time of the collision.

Denice Brown, a Pontiac resident who witnessed the crash, said the weather "was a very big factor" in the crash.

"It seems the gentleman in the Buick got caught by the edge of the road and when he tried to get back on he lost control of the car and it started to spin," Brown wrote in an email to The Oakland Press.

"The woman in the Envoy had absolutely no time to react to what was going down in front of her."

The accident is still under investigation.
